Dear Justin,

Thank you for your continued support and for sharing the update from [REDACTED]

Unfortunately, I have not received any secure emails from them to date. I have thoroughly checked all my inboxes, including junk and spam folders, and have had no success locating their response. I also attempted to contact their [REDACTED] by phone over five times yesterday afternoon but was unable to get through. I will continue trying, but if no response is received shortly, I will return to your office for further assistance.

Please note, I also give consent for [REDACTED] to release any correspondence directly to you, to help expedite the process.

In the meantime, I have attached the detailed document you requested outlining the full proposal for LUNA Awards Ltd — a new awarding body focused on delivering fully insurable Level 2 qualifications to 14–16-year-old SEN learners, filling a national gap that remains unregulated by Ofqual or any other current body.

To clarify again, I am not asking for changes to any existing awarding bodies or their frameworks. I am seeking either:

1. The creation of a new government regulator dedicated to LUNA Awards,
2. Or permission to create and operate my own independent regulatory framework to govern the qualifications under LUNA, ensuring they are nationally recognised, protected, and quality assured.

This proposal has been built with the same structure, standards, and safeguards used by Ofqual-recognised awarding bodies but tailored specifically for neurodiverse learners under 16, who are currently excluded from access to qualifications of this nature.

I would be grateful if you could now present this attached document to the appropriate Minister on my behalf. Please let me know if any further clarification or support documents are needed.

Thank you once again for your time, support, and the opportunity to move this vital proposal forward.

Warm regards,
Lauren Moore
